LOWELL POLICE ARREST SUSPECT FOR SHOOTING ON MARCH 29, 2015

On March 29, 2015 at approximately 6:15A.M., Lowell Police Communications Center received a 911 telephone call concerning shots fired at the BP Service Station, 299 Chelmsford Street. Upon arrival, officers determined that shots had been discharged at this address at a moving vehicle, which subsequently crashed into a home.

As a result of an intensive investigation by Lowell Police Detectives, Jeremy Alicea, Age 26, of Lowell, was arrested on April 2, 2015, and charged with:

1. Armed Assault With Intent to Murder;
2. Unlawful Carrying of a Firearm; and,
3. Unlawful Possession of Ammunition.

Notwithstanding the arrest of Alicea, this continues to be an active investigation.

The Lowell Police Department continues in its efforts to arrest perpetrators of violent crime, and remove unlawfully possessed firearms from the community.

Anyone with information concerning this crime or illegal firearms is asked to contact the Lowell Police Department at 978-937-3200.

Anonymous information may be forwarded to the Crime Stoppers Hotline at 978-459-8477.
